

Hello, as you can tell, by the way I signed my name, I am a proud member of the Amateur Radio Service. I am worried that you are not only going ahead too fast-without any real study, or regard, for one of the best communications services, in the country, but has anyone even bothered to think about the possible, eventual health risks? All I ask is that the FCC do a study, for a year to 18 months, to look at other, much safer, alternatives.

Respectfully Submitted,
